

Working with the palette and the background

The configuration window

Open the configuration window.

The configuration window

Press edit layers button.

The configuration window

Press configure button on the first layer.

The configuration window

Press outcolouring formulas button.

The configuration window

Press configure button on the first formula.

The configuration window

Expand the tree and select the palette node. Press edit button to edit the palette.

The palette editor

Create a new parameters block.

The palette editor

Resize the blocks.

The palette editor

Select the first block.

The palette editor

Press choose button to change the begin color.

The palette editor

Select a color and apply it.

The palette editor

Change the interpolation formula of the red component.

The palette editor

Apply the palette.

The palette editor

See the visualization window.

The palette editor

Zoom to see more details.

The palette editor

Change the interpolation formula of the red component.

The palette editor

Apply the palette.

The palette editor

See the visualization window.

The palette editor

Click on the white rectangle to move the first block.

The palette editor

The blocks order is changed.

The palette editor

Double-click on the first block to invert it.

The palette editor

Apply the palette.

The palette editor

See the visualization window.

The palette editor

Press choose button to change the begin color.

The palette editor

Click on RGB/HSB tab and change the alpha component.

The palette editor

Change the interpolation formula of the alpha component.

The palette editor

Apply the palette.

The background panel

Press main panel button to go to the main panel.

The background panel

Press edit background to change the background.

The background panel

Press modify button to change the color.

The background panel

Apply the color.

The background panel

See the visualization window.

